

Formworks

FORMS MADE EASY

Overview

Formworks for business eliminates the need for paper forms and cuts data processing time in half. The Formworks platform enables companies to easily create their own forms via a web GUI. Field based staff – for example salespeople, surveyors, facilities managers or auditors – then complete the forms on their iPad during a meeting or inspection. And, as forms are stored locally on device, there's no need for a network connection – the app will intelligently synchronize with the server when a connection becomes available.

What's Wrong With Paper?

Almost every business uses forms. Just think about them all – sales forms, application forms, surveys, inspections, audits, job sheets – the list goes on. Whilst paper forms are easy to use, they present a number of issues for organisations with mobile workers:

- The cost of producing, managing, printing and distributing the forms
- The cost and delays of posting or scanning completed forms
- The cost and delays from re-keying data
- Issues with handwriting legibility

These costs and time delays affect service and profitability, not to mention the environmental impact of so much paper.

The Formworks Advantage

While there are DIY electronic forms solutions on the market, these lack the flexibility, usability or scalability to meet the needs of most businesses.

Formworks is an enterprise class forms platform for iPad including:

- An easy to use, web-based form creation, management and deployment platform
- iPad forms that are easier and faster to use than pen and paper
- Data capture controls to ensure data quality at point of entry
- A secure app that can be used on or offline to maximise productivity
- Flexible data export options for integration with existing systems
- Enhanced functionality for the field user including adding photos, geo-tagging locations etc.

Formworks forms look familiar - just like paper forms, and support an exhaustive range of field types, including photo and signature capture, and handwriting recognition. Data is sent instantly back to the office - reducing paperwork and potential for data errors, while enabling faster data processing. Furthermore the Formworks SaaS infrastructure is hosted on the Amazon Enterprise Cloud Computing (EC2) infrastructure ensuring industry leading scalability, reliability and security.

“The Formworks solution has improved every aspect of this part of our business”
